Free talk, book signing with local author

Friday, November 20, 2009

Donna Fisher-Jackson, M.A. will be giving a free talk on the Romantic, the Type Four of the Enneagram Personality Type System followed by a book signing of her new book, The Healing Path of the Romantic, from 7 to 8 p.m. Friday at the Briar Patch Community Room in Grass Valley.

This self-help guidebook about the Romantic, the Type Four of the Enneagram includes the latest insights from the experts in the Enneagram field along with relationship and healing tools that any person can use in their life right now. In this book, you can learn all about what it's like to be a Romantic including the longing for a perfect love relationship and the search for creative expression in your life. The book can also help lovers understand their partners; employees understand their co-workers; and even parents better understand their children who are the Type Four. There are also stories about other Romantics, and how they have found awareness and insight through the Enneagram to make lasting changes in their lives. There are also many relationship tools in the book that could help anyone who is seeking to create a more conscious and romantic partnership.

Donna Fisher-Jackson, M.A., CHT who has been a Romantic her whole life, has been working in the counseling field since 1999. Donna has an M.A. in Counseling Psychology specializing in Holistic Studies from John F. Kennedy University of Northern California. She counsels women and men specializing in relationship issues, creativity, spirituality, vocation, career, and life's transitions. She utilizes the tools of the Enneagram Personality Type System, Hypnotherapy, Dreamwork, Jungian and Transpersonal Psychology, Western Astrology and the Mythic Tarot in her counseling work at her business Iris Holistic Counseling Services in Grass Valley.
